The conviction of the expediency and necessity of ratifying the Constitutional Amendment is, we think, everywhere gaining ground in this State. The best and most enlightened friends of Kentucky are rapidly wheeling into line and putting their shoulders to the wheel to push on the great work of ridding the State of an incubus and a nuisance. Slavery in Kentucky is now neither one thing nor another. It is neither fish, flesh nor fewl. The negroes are just free enough to be of ne use to their mes-

NEW ENGLAND ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY. BOSTON, May, 31. The New England Anti-Slavery Convention met to-day and was very fully attended Prof. J. F. Largeaut was chosen President. Wendell Phillips, Chairman of the Business Committee, reported resolution declaring that it is the opinion of the convention that the re-construction of the rebel States, without negro suffrage, is a practical surrender to the Confederacy, and will make the anti-slavery proclare of the late President, and even the Constitutional Amendment, utterly ineffectual for the freedom and protection of the ne-

Mr. Phillips supported the resolution in a vigorous speech. He contended that slavery was abolished, and the reconstruction policy of the administration, as set tion policy of the administration, as set tegislature from assembling, and counselforth in the proclamation for the reconsting people to pursue their pesceful avocastruction of North Carolins, was the absolute surrender of the helm of the Union into the hands of Alexander H. Stephens and his co-workers, Reconstruction on that basis is a practical fraud on the North. Every life and every dollar they had spent had been stolen from them. There was but one way in which the people could still hold the helm of affairs, and that was by declaring the repudiation of the entire war debt.

Such a party would have his vote. He would oppose every step of reconstruction that did not place the negro upon an absolute equality and level with the white man. Every man who supported the ments for opening the military lines to North Carolina proclamation was a Davis sycophant. Better, far better would it have been for Grant to have surrandered to Lee than for President Johnson to have surrendered to North Carolina.

SHERMAR'S REPORT. NEW YORK, May 31. An abstract of General Saerman's report, covering important points, is pub-ished. It contains the following dispatch to General Grant: HEADQ'RS. MIL. DIV. OF THE MISS, RALMON, N. C., April 28, 1865.

RALE-Since you sit me yesterday I have seen the New York Times of the 24th, containing a budget of military news anthenticated by the signature of the Secretary of War, which is grouped in such a way as to give very arroneous impressions. It embraces a copy of the basis of the agreement between myself and General Johnston, of April 10th, with comentaries which it will be time enough to discuss two or three years hence, after the Government has experimented a little more in the machinery by which power it reaches the scattered people of the vast area of country known as the South. But in the meantime & do taink my rank, if not my part service, entitled me, at least, to the respect of keeping secret what was known to none but the Cabinet until further enquiry could have been made instead of giving publici-ty to a document I never saw, and drawing inferences wide from the truth. I never saw, or had furnished me, a copy of Presi-dent Lincoln's disputch to you of the 5th of March until after the agreement, nor did Mr. Stanton, or any human being, ever convey to me its substance or anything like it. But on the contrary I had seen General Weltzel's invitation to the Virginia Legislature, made in Mr. Lincoln's presence, and had failed to discover any other official notice of a plan of recon struction, or any idea calculated to allay the fears of the people of the South that af-ter the destruction of the armies and civil authorities they would be left without any Government at all. We should not drive a people in anarchy, and it is simply in-possible for our military power to reach all the resources of their unhappy country. I confess I did not wish to break General Johnstons army into bands of armed men, moving about without purpose, and capa-ble of infinite mischief, but you saw on your arrival that I had my army so dis-York, now residing in Matamoras, Mexico, says a mock funeral of Mr. Lincoln took place in that city when the news of his death was received. Mr. Stanton, in stating that my orders to General Stoneman were likely to result in the escape of Mr. Davis to Mexico or Europe, is in deep error. Stoneman was not as Salisbury then, but and gone back The Post's Washington special says Gen- to Statesville. Davis was beyond him; by to states like. Davis was cojoun man, by turning toward me he was approaching Davis, and, had he juined me as ordered, I would have had a mounted force greatly needed for that and other services. But even new I don't know that Mr. Stanton was the cause of Davis being caught, and as my official papers, deemed sacred, are hastily published to the world, it will be imprudent for me to state what has been done in that respect, as the editor of the Times has. It may be logically and fairly drawn from this singular document.

As to the conclusion that I am insubordinste, I can only deny the intention. I beyed an order, though many and many a time have I risked my life and health and reputation in obeying orders, or even hints to execute plans and purposes not to my liking. It is not fair to withhold from me plans and policy, if any there be, and ex-pect me to guess at themes facts, and which aven appear quite different from different stand-points. For four years I have been in camp, desling with soldiers, and I can ssure you that the conclusion at which the Cabinet arrived, with such singular unanimity, differs from mine.

I conferred freely with the best officers in this army as to the points involved in this controversy, and, strange to say, they were singularly unanimous in the other conclu-sion; and they will learn with pain and I, who, in the complications of last year, worked day and night, summer and winter, for the cause of the Administration, and who have brought an army of 70,000 men in magn ficent style across a country deem-ed impassible, and placed it just where it was wanted almost on the day appointed, have brought discredit on our Govern-ment. I do not wish to bosst of this, but I do say that I was entitled to the courtesy of being consulted before publishing to the world a proposition rightfully submitted to higher authorities for adjudication, and then accompanied by other statements which invited the press to be let loose upon

ma. It is true, that non-combalents, who alsep in comfort and security while we watch on the distant line, are better able to judge than we soldiers who rarely see a newspaper, and can harely bear from our families, or stop long enough to get our pay. I envy not the task of reconstruction and am delighted that the Secretary has relieved me of it. As you did not under-F. P. has been published, I domand that this also be made public, though I am in no manner responsible to the press, but to law and my proper superiors.
